

Adopteq enables global chemical manufacturing company to define Decommissioning Strategy

The customer, a global chemical manufacturing company with history from 1995 and offices in over 15 countries with thousands of employees, was looking for help to analyze their Domino Environment with over 200 databases. The goal of the initiative was to define the strategy, scope and plan to decommission Lotus Notes/Domino.

The project required a solution that was efficient, scalable and would meet their requirements of understanding usage, complexity, target fit and overall could help define the strategy for their Domino decommission and Migration journey.

All these requirements, together with the need for a partner with extensive Transformation and Migration experience and capabilities, led the customer to choose Adopteq and their product InvestigatorPlus for Domino, for their largescale Domino analysis project.

We are always honored to get to enable the customer towards their goal of essentially decommission Domino once and for all, which we do by sharing our years of experience with the right products – says Viktor Jansson, Chief Executive Office at Adopteq.
